husband looked at her tenderly, with tears in his eyes. Then as he glanced up at me, I expected him to utter something truly poetic. Instead he asked, "What's her name again?"

Full-Figured

I am full-figured, and when I dine in restaurants, I often find the chairs too small and uncomfortable. The last time I ate out I filled in a comment card, saying that while the food and service were wonderful, the chairs did not accommodate anyone over a size 14.

Several weeks later I received a note of apology -- and a coupon for a free dessert.

Teacher

I recently ran into an old student of mine, who said, "I always liked you. You never had favorites."

"Why, thank you," I replied.

Then he concluded with, "You were mean to everyone."

Odd Creature

We live in the country and often find different creatures have made their way into our house. Last night was the oddest of all.

A huge ball of fluff made its way across the living room limping or crawling or jumping. At first we thought it was an ill mouse but on closer inspection we discovered it was a tiny frog covered in hair from our dog.

Dress for Success

My boss told me yesterday, "Ken, you shouldn't dress for the job you have, dress for the job you want."

But when I turned up at the office today in Ghostbuster's clothing, she said I was fired.

Surviving

The human body can survive three weeks without food, three days without water, but only three hours without wifi.

Summer Flying

Flying through the Midwest in the summer means one thing, turbulence.

I was working as a flight attendant on one particular flight when we hit a patch of very rough air just after a young teen on his first flight, had entered the bathroom. After the bumps had subsided, he exited the bathroom, a look of sheer terror etched on his face.

"Are you all right?" I asked. "Don't worry, that turbulence was as bad as it gets."

"So that's what it was," he said. "I thought I'd pushed the wrong button."

New Baby

The birth of our second child, a daughter, came after a long and difficult labor. But it was definitely worth it when our beautiful little girl emerged, perfect in every way.

Later, in my room, my
