"I saw a documentary on how ships are kept together. Riveting!"

Accelerated Class

Toward the end of the school year, the sixth-grade teachers decide which of their students should be accelerated in certain subjects in the seventh grade. When a child is chosen, his parents are notified.

When one boy was accelerated in science and math, his mother wrote to the teacher, "I think this is quite an honor for someone who just tried to make two quarts of lemonade in a one-quart pitcher!"

Marathon

I was watching a marathon and saw one runner dressed as a chicken and another runner dressed as an egg...

I thought, "This could be interesting."

Drivers Education

A teenager was nervous as he took the wheel for his first driving lesson. Two other students waited their turns in the back seat.

As the driver was pulling out of the parking lot, the teacher said, "Turn left here, and don't forget to let the people behind you know what you're doing."

The young driver turned to the students sitting in the back seat and announced, "I'm going left."

Small Plane

Recently, I called to make reservations on a small charter plane that departs from a small airport in New Jersey.

I knew that I would be flying in a very small plane, so I was not surprised when the clerk said, "The plane is very full with baggage and passengers."

Then she asked, "How much do you weigh, sir?"

Not thinking clearly I answered, "With or without clothes?"

"Well," said the clerk, "how do you intend to travel?"

Karaoke

While attending college, I worked evenings at a retail store. On slow nights my co-worker Susan would often sing along with the radio while we did paperwork or restocked merchandise.

One evening as the manager was leaving I expressed my concern to him about our safety, being two women working alone at night.

"Oh, you'll be fine," he said, waving of his hand. "If you see anybody who looks suspicious, just warn him that Susan knows karaoke."
