"I just took a power nap on a park bench. I made $7.30 in change."

College Professor

Back in my hippie college days, a professor came up to me in the cafeteria and asked me, "Ya dig?"

I thought to myself, this guy's pretty far out. I answered, "Yeh man, I dig!"

That's how I got hoodwinked into joining his archaeological expedition.

Potential Juror

As a potential juror in an assault and battery case, I was sitting in a courtroom, answering questions from both sides.

The prosecutor asked had I ever been mugged? Did I know the victim or the defendant?

The defense attorney took a different approach. "I see you are a teacher," he said. "What do you teach?"

"English and theater," I responded.

"Then I guess I better watch my grammar," the defense attorney quipped.

"No" I shot back. "You better watch your acting."

I was excused from the case.

Tofu

A well-dressed man approached a woman at a health food store and in a clipped British accent asked her exactly what she did with the tofu in her basket.

She said she normally puts it in the refrigerator, looks at it for several weeks and then throws it away.

The man replied, "That's exactly what my wife does with it. I was hoping you had a better recipe."

Spider Web

"It's funny, when I walk into a spider web I demolish his home and misplace his dinner, yet I still feel like the victim."

Smart Kid

Picking up my son at daycare, I got into a conversation with a group of parents.

One woman bragged that her son sat up alone at four months, crawled at six months and was walking long before his first birthday. She said at 16 months, he now was talking in full sentences.

Turning to my friend Helen, she asked, "is your 16-month-old talking yet?"

"No, Andy doesn't say much," Helen replied. "He mainly writes things down for us."

Skipping Class

A teacher was reprimanding a teenager in the hall. "Do you mind telling me whose class you're cutting this time?"

"Like," the young teen replied, "uh, see, okay, like it's like I really don't like think like that's really important, y'know, like because I'm y'know, like I don't like get anything out of it."

"It's English class, isn't it?" replied the smiling teacher.
