Bus Ride

While riding the bus, my mother noticed a young man, who was holding onto the same pole, staring at her. Eventually he said, "Excuse me, this is my stop."

Since she wasn't blocking his way, she was confused. "Well," she said, "go ahead."

"And this is my pole," he said.

My mother was completely perplexed until the young man added, "I just bought it at the hardware store to hold up my shower certain."

And with that, he picked up his pole and carried it off the bus.

Introductions

My neighbor introduced his wife to me by calling her his, "Better half."

I returned the courtesy by introducing my wife as, "The lesser of two evils."

Lost Ear

A construction worker accidentally cuts off one of his ears with an electric saw. He calls out to the guy walking on the street below, "Hey, do you see my ear down there?"

The guy on the street picks up an ear and yells back, "Is this it?"

"No," replies the construction worker. "Mine had a pencil behind it!"

Organist

A friend of mine, a professional organist, was asked to play for a wedding. Unfamiliar with the church's organ, she went to the sanctuary to practice.

Curious about a small keyboard that slid out from under the two regular keyboards, she tapped out a couple of bars of a children's song, but heard nothing. Then she played a few more notes, but still no organ music.

Just then a man came running into the church, shouting, "Who's playing 'Three Blind Mice' on the church-steeple bells?"

Bank Robber

Patty, the bank teller, was having a bad day with nasty and rude customers. A nicely dressed young man came up to her window and with a smile showed her a note, "Please give me all your money...I thank you for your time and help!"

After emptying her drawer into a bag, she added a chocolate bar left from her lunch.

"What's that for?" he asked.

"That's because you were the most polite person I've had all day," she answered.
