Class Reunion

My 60-year kindergarten reunion is coming up soon, and I'm worried about the 175 pounds I've gained since then.

Bricklayer

A bricklayer at a construction job routinely complained about the contents of his lunch box. "I'm sick of getting the same old thing!" he shouted one day. "Tonight I'll set my wife straight."

The next day the men could hardly wait until lunchtime to hear what happened.

"You bet I told her off," the bricklayer boasted. "I said, 'No more of the same old stuff. Be creative?' We had one heck of a fight, but I got my point across."

He had indeed, In front of an admiring audience, he opened his lunch box to find that his wife had packed a coconut and a hammer.

Baseball Game

St. Peter and Satan were having an argument one day about baseball.

Satan proposed a game to be played on neutral grounds between a select team from the heavenly host and his own hand-picked boys.

"Very well," said the gatekeeper of Heaven. "but you realize, I hope, that we've got all the good players and the best coaches."

"I know, and that's all right," Satan answered. "We've got all the umpires."

Tiger says, "But I'm playing in the Masters tomorrow."

The clerk replies again that they are booked, but there is a hotel about a 4-iron down the road.

To this Tiger says, "But I am Tiger Woods!"

The clerk then says, "Oh! For you it's just a 9-iron then."

Eating Habits

A mother complained to her doctor about her daughter's strange eating habits, "All day long she lies in bed and eats yeast and car wax. What will happen to her?"

"Eventually," said the doctor, "she will rise and shine."

Twenty Dollars

"My great-grandma gave me this money," said my three-year-old, happily clutching a $20 bill he'd gotten as a present.

"That's right," I said, "How did you know that?"

Pointing to Andrew Jackson's face in the middle, he said, "Because her picture is on it."
