Groaner

Patrons at the zoo were astonished to see an old man jump over the bars of the lion's cage. Seemingly oblivious to the danger, he walked among the fierce creatures holding the latest bestselling book in his hands, intently perusing its contents. The spectators were beside themselves.

"What in the world is he doing?" shouted one.

"Is he crazy? He's going to get killed!" yelled another.

"Don't worry about him," replied the man's son. "That's just my dad. He likes to read between the lions."

Married Life

Two husbands were discussing their married lives. Although happily married, they admitted that there were arguments sometimes. One said, "I've made one great discovery. I know how to always have the last word."

"Wow!" said the other. "How did you manage that?"

"It's easy, my last words are always, 'Yes, Dear.'"

Family Problems

Two men, an American and an Indian were sitting in a bar and discussing their family problems.

The Indian man said to the American, "We have problems in India. We can't marry the one whom we love. You know my parents are forcing me to get married to this girl whom I haven't even met once. We call this an arranged marriage. I don't want to marry a woman whom I don't love. I told them that openly and now have a lot of family problems."

The American said, "Talking about love marriages, in American we can marry the one whom we love. I'll tell you my story. I married a widow whom I deeply loved and dated for 3 years. After a couple of years, my father fell in love with my step-daughter and married her, so my father became my son-in-law and I became my father's father-in-law. Legally now my daughter is my mother and my wife my grandmother. More problems occurred when I had a son. My son is my father's brother and so he is my uncle."

"Situations turned worse when my father had a son. Now my father's son, my brother is my grandson. Ultimately, I have become my own grandfather and I am my own grandson. And you say you have family problems.

New Salesman

An inexperienced real estate salesman asked his boss if he could refund the deposit to an angry customer who had discovered that the lot he had bought was under water.

"What kind of salesman are you?" the boss scolded. "Get out there and sell him a boat."
