Job Interview

I went for an interview at a big IT company for the position of Computer Hacking Investigator.

The boss asked me, "So, what makes you suitable for this job?"

"Well," I replied, "I hacked into your computer and invited myself to this interview!"

Marine Corps

One month into Marine Corps training in San Diego, California, we were preparing for a ten-mile march in 100-degree weather when a jeep drove up with a large radio in the back.

"Who knows anything about radios?" our drill instructor asked.

Several hands went up, and anticipating a ride in the jeep, recruits began listing their credentials. Everything from a degree in communications to a part-time job in a repair shop was declared.

The Drill Instructor listened to all the contenders, then pointed to the most qualified. "You!" he barked. "Carry the radio."

Great Writer

world will read, stuff that people will react to on a truly emotional level, stuff that will make them scream, cry, howl in pain and anger!"

He now works for Microsoft, writing error messages.

Phone Store

Computer

calling the help desk, I told my colleague that e-mail was being delayed and she needed to check for a computer virus.

"It's a variant of the 'I Love You' virus, only worse," I said.

"What could be worse?" my single co-worker asked wryly. "The 'Let's Just Be Friends' virus?"

Court Date

At a court date the judge asked, "What makes you think the prisoner had been drinking?"

"Well, your honor," replied the arresting officer, "I saw him lift up a manhole cover and walk away with it, and when I asked him what it was for he said, 'I want to listen to it on my record player.'"
